In his latest book, Sorcerer's Apprentice, Tahir Shah takes us on a thrilling journey into the heart of Central Asia, where he encounters a cast of extraordinary characters and learns the secrets of ancient wisdom traditions.

Shah's journey begins in the ancient city of Bukhara, Uzbekistan, where he meets a group of Sufi mystics who teach him the art of "inner alchemy." From there, he travels to the remote mountains of Kyrgyzstan, where he learns the shamanic traditions of the Kyrgyz people. He also spends time in the deserts of Kazakhstan, where he encounters a group of nomadic herders who share their knowledge of the ancient Silk Road.

Throughout his journey, Shah is guided by a mysterious figure known as the "Sorcerer," who helps him to understand the deeper meaning of the traditions he is encountering. The Sorcerer teaches Shah that the true path to enlightenment lies not in following external rules and regulations, but in developing a deep connection to one's own inner self.

Sorcerer's Apprentice is a beautifully written and deeply evocative book that offers a unique glimpse into the heart of Central Asia. Shah's writing is both lyrical and informative, and he has a gift for bringing the people and places he encounters to life. This is a book that will stay with you long after you finish it.
